

They come out at night

Marci and Michael

By day, they are teachers of music. But by night, they trade their classroom arena for the show business limelight.

The teachers, Marci Elyn Schein and her husband Michael Vincent Ficocelli, have performed in various clubs throughout New York City and are appearing now through Sept. 26 in the Casino Lounge of Trump's Castle in Atlantic City, N.J.

Marci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Harold Schein of Spring Valley, is a 1977 graduate of Ramapo High School and a 1981 graduate of the University of Bridgeport, Conn., where she pursued a vocal career in classical and jazz music. She has also appeared in dinner theater and currently teaches music at the Ramaquois Country Day School in Pomona.

Michael, a musician and published composer, teaches music in the New York City school system.